Silver was used in medicine for hundreds of years and only recently got a negative name due to low-grade products being sold by less than ethical manufacturers. The low quality formulas include compounds, salts, and proteins that render the products less beneficial and potentially harmful. Sovereign Silver is on a different level, using only the purest and most refined forms of colloidal silver. The liquid is packaged in a glass bottle, rather than plastic, in order to ensure that the product maintains its high quality and integrity.

In the past, some silver has been known to turn the skin a bluish color, a condition called Argyria. However, Sovereign Silver is guaranteed not to do so and this promise is backed by a representative from the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. This product is the only silver hydrosol on the market that is supported by this statement.

This colloidal silver product includes 96 percent actively charged particles and the smallest average particle sizes available. The only ingredients in the product are silver and water. The water is high-quality medical grade and the combination of the two ingredients results in a clear and almost tasteless liquid.

The recommended method of use depends upon the purpose for which the product is being taken. For maintenance, use the product once daily; to build immunity, take three times daily; for long term immune support, take five times daily; and take seven times daily for short term immune support. The dosage directions specify to take one teaspoon and hold it under the tongue for 30 seconds, then swallow.
