I tried the dual Action cleanse to wash out my system before I started on a weight loss program. The start stage of the program comprises you taking tablets before each meal. The best part about this was that it did not say that you had to take the tablets at a set time before meals. I have the difficulty that I am never actually sure when I'm going to get to take a seat for meals.

The tablets had the effect that was described in the flyer that came with the cleanse. According to twin Action clean, you should have a bowel movement after every meal. I did experience this. It was not as intense as some cleanse products, but instead a more delicate feeling.

There is a chase up stage after the initial one of the twin Action clean to maintain the healthy colon that you have. This was very easy to stay abreast of as far as any other cleanse on the market. An added bonus that I experienced from being on twin Action cleanse was that I lost about 8 pounds over the period of time that I was on it.

twin Action cleanse does promote itself as being healthy enough for somebody to go on it many times to scrub the toxins out of their system.

I would definitely advocate the twin Action cleanse for anybody that is interested in cleaning the poisons from their everyday life out of their system. It is user friendly and an excellent health benefit all combined product.
